New stamps in

Diverse stamp programme in 2017.

In 2017 it will be a century since the first international Sami congress was held in Trondheim. We are marking this by issuing stamps on Sami National Day, 6 February. We will also issue stamps to celebrate the 80th birthdays of the King and Queen of Norway. The 2017 Road World Cycling Championships are being held in Bergen, and Posten will issue stamps to celebrate this event. Østfold features prominently in the 2017 stamp year: Fredrikstad celebrates 450 years, and it is 150 years since the Tune Viking ship was excavated. The Norwegian automotive industry never quite took off, but several fully Norwegian cars have been produced over the years. Some of these will appear on stamps in October.

Approximately 24 stamps will be issued in 2017.

Dear Customer!

Fredrik Skavlan is not just a famous Norwegian TV personality: he is also a stamp artist.

Skavlan is well-known as a talk show host on TV, but few people know that he is both a cartoonist and book illustrator. And now he is also taking on the mantle of stamp artist. On this year's Christmas stamps, Skavlan has found room for both package delivery and Santa's sleigh heading home for Christmas.

Two personal anniversaries are marked with their own stamps this time around. Johan Sverdrup is regarded as the father of parliamentarism in Norway. Author Tor Jonsson was the first to write about "bygdedyret", the negative aspects of rural life, and is regarded as one of the great lyricists of his time. Both stamps were designed and engraved by Sverre Morken.

The first stamp of the year will be issued on 2 January. Our 2017 stamp programme features lots of exciting themes. Read more on page 2

We will shortly be entering the hectic run-up to Christmas. We take this opportunity to wish all of Stamp Magazine's readers a truly Merry Christmas. And please, don't forget your Christmas cards!

Kind regards,

Halvor Fasting
