

Pastries become Christmas stamps

Four winners of a competition will adorn the Christmas post.

Stamp Programme 2023

Next year, too, there are many exciting stamp issues to look forward to.

In February, Arendal and Risør each celebrate their 300th anniversary. In April, six of the thousands of pictures we received in the #Norwaymemories2022 competition will become stamps, and in October four ferries will be featured on stamps. As a subscriber, all of these will be sent to you automatically.

Dear customer!

2022 has been the Year of Volunteering in Norway. We have celebrated Norway's most important teamwork, and there has been a great deal of attention paid to the volunteers in both culture, sport and humanitarian work. Norway Post is celebrating the Year of Volunteering with the issue of a stamp designed by Jørn O. Jøntvedt. The stamp will be issued on 11 November, well in advance of Volunteer's Day on 5 December.

This year's Christmas stamps are the result of an exciting collaboration with God Morgen Norge (Good Morning Norway) on TV2. Last December, viewers of the show were invited to upload pictures of their gingerbread creations to Facebook or Instagram. Almost a thousand creations were submitted for the competition, from which an expert jury and a people's jury picked four for this year's Christmas stamps. Our designer Camilla Kvien Jensen has designed the four stamps. With no less than four Christmas stamps, there should be plenty of options for beautiful franking of this year's Christmas cards.

The first stamp issue in 2023 is 21 February. The full programme for 2023 can be found on page 2.

With wishes for a good pre-Christmas season.
